WHAT CUSTOMERS SAY

The protection board we ordered was exactly what we needed. Less than half the cost of plywood that we had planned on using, and the guys can lift ten sheets at a time by themselves instead of two guys moving one sheet at a time. We were planning on having 6mil poly underneath the sheets, but since these are already waterproof there's no need.

WHAT CUSTOMERS SAY

After using this material on multiple projects to protect a variety of surfaces from ceramic tile to carpet tile I have not found another product that offers the versatility and quality of protection that Axiom Fleece provides. The ease of installation and removal is also a huge advantage and saves time and money on every project I have completed. To add to this the waterproof protection is second to none and I have yet to have a issue with paint etc. seeping through to the finished floor beneath. All around great product at a reasonable price.

WHAT CUSTOMERS SAY

We reached out to Axiom at the beginning of our project and talked back and forth on issues we've had in the past with trade damage, then the Axiom sales team followed back up in 12 months to confirm what stage our project was at. We have multiple people come to our office with surface protection offers, but when it comes to quality and cost and the fast delivery time, it can't be beat. Everything we could and would need is from 1 supplier, and even with small builds they still show they care about your business. The Axiom team is on the ball to ensure what we ordered is on site super fast. When we forget something, we don't have to worry about leaving it uncovered for a long time.

My main focus was to find products that were durable, which in turn would save projects money by not having to regularly replace damaged protection. In Axiom I found both the products, and the durability required.
